

Hmmmmm...

What is the On-Line Learning Academy?

The Central Columbia Online Learning Academy is an educational alternative for those students who seek an educational experience that is flexible, independent, and tailored to meet individual student needs. CCOLA offers a complete standards aligned curriculum through an online environment. Students can enjoy the convenience and flexibility of school at home, but with the support of Central Columbia's certified teachers, counselors, and specialists. CCOLA students will also be supported by an online learning coach, whose job it is to provide support and coaching through their educational journey.

The Central Columbia Online Learning Academy provides a rigorous public-school education through an engaging online learning environment. This program provides an excellent alternative to other cyber charter schools and to traditional brick-and-mortar school environments. Individualized learning programs are created using a team approach that is student centered and intended to provide the most successful learning experience possible. This team consists of highly qualified professional teachers, counselors, administrators, and most importantly students and their parents.
